

Startup Norway

VC Challenge a program to help emerging fund managers raise their first fund. It has been successfully piloted in Norway and the Nordics. Europe can benefit from training programs for emerging fund managers as well. This program has a focus on supporting the integration of more women in venture, the development of more sustainable funds and the integration of more researchers into venture capital.

Emerging LP program, a program to activate more private individuals and organizations to invest in venture capital funds in Europe. This program will be tested in the Nordics in 2023. This program has a focus on increasing the number of allocations from public and private investors into venture as an asset class, increasing the number of allocations into emerging managers, and promoting best practices in venture investing.
